

Oregonauthor.com
Jon Remmerde

If You Had

your life to live over,
would you? the counselor asked.
Gregg said,
of all assembled there,
his was the only
“No”

Because the same person would make the same mistakes, and having gone through extremely unpleasant existence, he said

It took me the largest part of a second to see
It didn't matter at all if I would or wouldn't because I couldn't

If mistakes once done
could be undone
or if I knew then
oh, how many times,
and still, the sun rises over the mountain
today
only today
I'm grateful
for the sun
for the sunbeam
for the warmth
for today